Description
The USED 2009 Glastron GLS215 is a smart choice for boaters seeking a well-rounded bowrider with sporty looks, comfortable seating, and reliable performance for days on the water. At around 21 feet, this Glastron model offers the space to bring family or friends aboard while remaining easy to handle, whether you are cruising along the coast, enjoying a relaxed afternoon on the lake, or towing wakeboards and inflatables for a bit of fun. Its open bow layout, practical cockpit, and sleek Glastron styling give it an inviting feel, while features often found on the GLS215 may include wraparound seating, a swim platform, storage for gear, and a responsive sterndrive set-up designed to make every trip enjoyable. As a used 2009 model, condition, engine hours, service history, and included equipment are key points to check, but a well-kept Glastron GLS215 can offer excellent value for anyone looking for a versatile, good-looking runabout with plenty of character.
